

The Colorado Right to Rest Act

Ensures 5 Human Rights Necessary for Survival:

- The right to rest in a non-obstructive manner
- The right to shelter oneself from the elements in a non-obstructive manner
- The right to eat, share, accept, or give food in public spaces
- The right to occupy a vehicle or recreational vehicle
- The right to reasonable expectation of privacy for one's personal property

Legislating Homelessness

The R2R Act is simple: it addresses the human right to survive. Homelessness, though, is a statewide crisis with many often convoluted parts that must be legislated independently. The basic segments are Causes, People in Homelessness, and Solutions.

While we aggressively seek solutions, all agree people will live in Colorado's public spaces for the projectable future. This bill focuses there to ensure human rights are protected in that period.
